

Class records

1 Critical thinking

In groups of four, choose two categories you can have for a class competition.

Some examples are:

- 1 Who can keep their eyes open—without blinking—the longest?
- 2 Who remembers the most words from previous units?
- 3 Who can look at a photograph from the book and remember the most details?
- 4 Who can say a tongue twister the fastest?

You can come up with your own two categories if you wish.

2 Communication

Discuss which two categories you would like to look at and then vote for one of them. Explain why you chose this category.

3 Creativity

In your group of four, design the award you are giving for your category. For example, if your category is who can read the fastest, you can design a certificate with the drawing of an eye perhaps.

4 Collaboration

Carry out the competition in your groups.

Find who is the winner for the category you chose.

5 Evaluation

After all the competitions, award the prize to the winner.

Analyze the performance of each group member.
